

Pinot Grigio

The moon, ever-changing and loyal, loving and cold, beautiful and mysterious, shrouded by a sense of immortality, has fascinated humankind since the beginning of time. In fact, humans have always endeavored to grasp her sensuality and learn her secrets for living in harmony with mother nature. Over the centuries the regular course of its rising and waning has greatly influenced the popular beliefs. The phases of the moon with the mysterious celestial waves that accompany them regulate human behavior, tides, plant growth, and rainfall. They have great importance in sowing, planting, crop care, harvesting and storage.

This fascination and these reflections have inspired our line luna: wines that express nuanced hints and reach deep in the soul of guests charming then the magic of a dream.

Classification	Terre Siciliane Igt
Varieties	100% Pinot Grigio
Alcohol by volume	12.5% (the alcohol content is indicative and may vary by +/- 0.50% by vol.)
Area of production	Salaparuta, 350 masl, south-east aspect
Soil	Dark and deep alluvial soils, medium texture, sandy-clayey silty composition, good content of organic matter
Training and pruning	Upwards-trained vertical trellis, guyot
Yield per hectare	6000 kg per hectare
Vinification	The must is treated by oxidation only at the beginning of process to obtain the final stability of the color. Fermentation then lasts 20 days at a controlled temperature of 13-15 °c. It is aged in stainless steel vats for about 2 months.
Organoleptic characteristics	Pale soft color. This tropical example of pinot grigio has a refined and elegant bouquet with fruity notes of pears, green apples and white peaches. In the mouth it affords fruity hints that are perceived by the nose with a certain acidity that makes it balanced and fragrant. It matches well with risotto alla marinara.
